PROTOTYPE HISTORY:

Atlas' ACF® Pressureaide® model is based on a pressurized covered hopper car designed to transport dry powdered goods (like kaolin clay, corn starch, flour and talc). Unloading is done through the pneumatic pipes located underneath the car. The prototype cars were built beginning in the early 1980s and continue to be built today.

FEATURES:

- Etched metal roof walks
- Detailed brake gear with scale piping
- AccuMate® couplers
- Accurate painting and printing
- 100-ton roller-bearing trucks

PROTOTYPE HISTORY:

Built between 1978 and 1981 by American Car and Foundry's (ACF®) St. Louis plant, the Coalveyor is a bathtub-type rotary-dump gondola car that was designed for transporting coal. The cars were originally operated by the utility companies in unit trains for deliveries to their power plants. Today, in addition to coal service, a number of cars have found their way to non-utility private companies and shortline railroads.

FEATURES:

- Die-cast chassis
- Interior bracing
- AccuMate® couplers
- 100-ton roller-bearing trucks
- Accurate painting and printing
- Ready-to-run
- Removable coal load
- Brake detail

PROTOTYPE HISTORY:

ACF® Industries began production of the 23,500 Gallon Tank Car in 1969. It was built as a general-purpose, single-compartment, insulated, coiled, non-pressurized tank car and is still in service today. A wide variety of products can be transported in this size and type of tank car, including asphalt, ethanol, fuel oil, metal sodium, molten phenol, paraffin wax, tallow, urethane polyol, and vegetable oil.

FEATURES:

- Separately molded brake line plumbing
- Ultra-thin handrails
- Brake wheel chain detail
- Accurate painting and lettering
- Factory-installed AccuMate® magnetic knuckle couplers
- Tank fittings and safety placards
- 100-ton roller-bearing trucks

PROTOTYPE HISTORY:

ACF® manufactured about 1,800 of the 2-Bay Centerflow Hoppers prototypes between 1966 and 1970, and many are still in service today. Measuring 35'5" long, this hopper was used by eleven railroads in hauling heavy, dense commodities like sand, cement or other minerals.

FEATURES:

- AccuMate® couplers
- Accurate painting and printing

PROTOTYPE HISTORY:

Built by ACF® from 1940-1953, the 70-Ton Hart Ballast Cars were formally known as "Hart Selective Service Ballast Cars". This was due to the use of specially-designed doors which allowed the lading to be discharged one of three ways: to the center of the rails, to the center and sides of the rails, or to the sides of the rails only.

FEATURES:

- Die-cast chassis
- NEW! 70-ton friction bearing trucks
- NEW! AccuMate® offset shank coupler

PROTOTYPE HISTORY:

Built by United States Railway Equipment, later changed to the Evans Company, at Blue Island, IL, this "Box Car" is actually classed as a refrigerator car by the AAR. Railroaders, railfans and modelers often refer to these as insulated box cars. All cars of this design were stenciled as having a 5,100 cubic-foot capacity. This car was manufactured from 1969-1978 and many are still running today.

FEATURES:

- 70-ton roller-bearing trucks
- Two-piece underframe
- Air reservoir
- End platforms
- AccuMate® couplers
- Blackened metal wheels

PROTOTYPE HISTORY:

This highly detailed model is based on the 40' wood refrigerator cars built by Pullman for the Northern Refrigerator Car Co. in 1930. With its rooftop ice hatches, USRA-style fish belly underframe and vertical brake shaft, it is representative of the thousands of similar cars that were built during the "Billboard" era of American railroads.

FEATURES:

- Accurate painting and printing including door hinges, ladders, grab irons and end straps
- Opening roof hatches • Realistic handle and latch detail
- Wood grain finish detail on carbody • Ready-to-run
- 40-ton friction bearing trucks with AccuMate® couplers

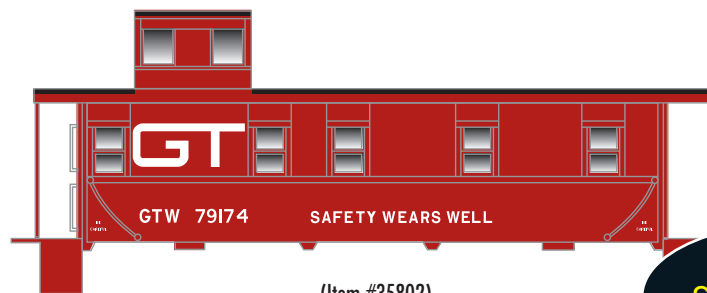

PROTOTYPE HISTORY:

The Southern Iron and Equipment Company of Atlanta, Georgia, (SIECO), began manufacturing gondolas in the mid-1970s. The Evans Company took control of SIECO in the early 1980's, producing the gondola under their own specifications. The gondola is still in use in North America today. This Atlas N scale gondola will find as many uses on your model railroad as the prototype did on the great rail lines of America!

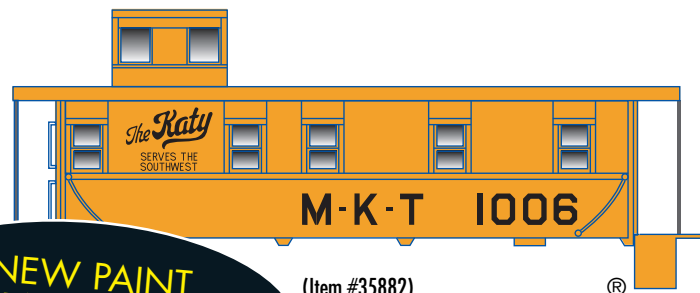

FEATURES:

- True scale dimensions with accurate detail
- Separately applied end and side ladders
- 100 Ton roller bearing trucks with offset shank Accumate® couplers
- Die cast under frame

HO & N LASER CUT MICRO PLYWOOD GARAGE KITS

NEW MODEL! There's a new "kit" on the block! Our first release of these finely detailed garages is designed to match Kate's Colonial Home, a member of the Atlas Lovely Lady Home Series™.

Kate's Colonial Garage kit is modeled after a typical two-car garage prefabricated design from the early 1920's. These inexpensive garages were built by the hundreds from prefabricated metal and wood components. Manufacturers of these garages, such as Sears Roebuck, Aladdin and Radford Companies, often advertised that they required only basic tools for construction. Due to this ease of construction, many were actually disassembled and moved to different locations over their lifetime. This kit features several trademarks of the prototypes including the "hinged" wooden doors with multi-pane windows on top, a peaked roof and horizontal novelty siding. Each package includes 2 garage structures and comes with a detailed instruction sheet for easy assembly.
