ORDERING INFORMATION & TERMS

December 2017

Dear Model Railroader,

Welcome to the December 2017 Atlas ASMC consumer edition of product Announcements and Arrivals.

All Atlas products are tooled prior to the announcement and offering of that product to the marketplace. In other words, Atlas researches and decides on a project, makes a significant commitment in product development resources and tooling dollars, and only then offers it to model railroaders.

Prior to the start of supplier production, Atlas announces to authorized dealers, distributors and e-subscribers that we are nearing final production. This notification comes in the form of Atlas' All Scales Monthly Catalog (ASMC) which focuses in on the current month's planned and specified announcements and allows consumers to place guaranteed pre-orders with their local hobby shop for those specific products by a given date. Please see page 4 of this ASMC for an in-depth explanation of the Atlas Guaranteed Pre-Order system. If you need assistance finding a dealer near you, don't forget our Hobby Store Locator! Check out the locator at <http://shop.atlasrr.com/storeLocator.aspx>. You can also view and reserve products via Atlas' online store shop.atlasrr.com.

Here at Atlas, we have an unwavering dedication to prototypical authenticity. Unless otherwise noted, every paint scheme that appears on a model we produce has been carefully researched and recreated to look exactly as it did on the prototype.

The ASMC is widely distributed and shared with thousands of dedicated Atlas consumer fans in accordance with their scale preference. This distribution is accomplished through targeted electronic messaging as well as via handouts at shows throughout the year. You can ensure that you receive the latest Atlas news and offers, in your preferred scale(s), delivered directly to your email inbox by visiting www.atlasrr.com and signing up for our email newsletter – the Atlas Insider.

December's edition of the ASMC is sure to make any modeler feel like a child on Christmas morning! We're announcing MP15DC's and NE-6 Caboose N and HO Scales, along with N 40' Wood Reefers and HO Postwar Box cars. In O scale, we're going to have 2 and 3 Railers alike all "hopped up" with excitement at our latest Trinity 5161 and H21A Hoppers - you'll find all of those wonderful models and more inside, as well as arriving locomotives, rolling stock and track in all scales.

From all at Atlas to each and everyone of you - we wish you the happiest of holidays and the very best in 2018!

Joe Kolnoski
Vice President of Sales

Atlas Guaranteed Pre-Order Explanation

Atlas utilizes an exclusive 'guaranteed pre-order system' which assures that a customer will receive a desired product if ordered during the pre-order period. All Atlas products are tooled prior to the announcement and offering of that product to the marketplace. In other words, Atlas researches and decides on a project, makes a significant commitment in product development resources and tooling dollars, and only then offers it to model railroaders.

While this method of production can be a time consuming and risky venture for Atlas, our commitment to excellence results in products that are recognized throughout the industry as many of the best available. The only assistance Atlas requests from its customers is help in determining the level of interest in these products. This is what Atlas refers to as the "guaranteed pre-order system". The system is responsible for assuring that current and future projects continue to be developed and moved through the product pipeline.

Prior to the start of supplier production, Atlas announces to authorized dealers, distributors and e-subscribers that we are nearing final production. It is at this point that Atlas takes guaranteed pre-orders for an approximate one month period of time. If an order is received by Atlas during the given time frame, Atlas "guarantees" that when the project is produced, the guaranteed order will be filled.

Orders taken after this period of time may be filled by an additional "cushion" ordered amount. Products ordered after the established pre-order date cannot be guaranteed. Please note that Atlas does not require financial deposits for pre-ordered products from any customer. Your risk free investment is limited to your pre-order backed by the proven ability that Atlas will provide you with an outstanding model you will proudly own and operate for many years to come.

There is one caveat to the guaranteed pre-order policy. In some few cases, the number of guaranteed pre-orders received may not meet supplier requirements for minimum order quantities. In this case, Atlas may extend an order period to reach needed production quantities, cancel an unpopular road name or rarely, withdraw the entire planned production run.

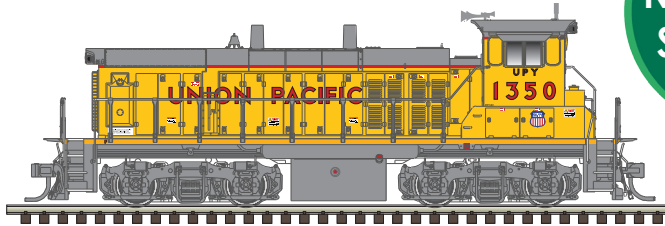

All Atlas rolling stock and locomotives are built to order. The built to order process means that a large percent of Atlas locomotives and rolling stock are sold out upon arrival at the factory. Authorized Atlas dealers found in the Atlas dealer locator should be contacted for availability. Orders are most assured when placed with Atlas retailers during the pre-order period. All other Atlas products (i.e. track and accessories) are manufactured as in-stock items.

Please be advised that the "Estimated Arrival Date" is just that...an estimate. It takes time to develop high quality products with scale accuracy. As such the estimated ship date may change especially with the release of a new product.

Excerpt from EMD's MP15 is a powerful heavy-duty switcher Model Railroader June 2006 Reviewed By James Hediger

Here's a great looking, smooth running model of Electro-Motive Division's versatile MP15 heavy duty yard switcher. At first glance it may look like any other EMD switcher, but this one is a hauler capable of moving up to 42 free rolling cars on straight, level track. Atlas offers the MP15 in a Silver series DC version, or as a Gold series model with DCC decoder and sound system.

Replacement power. Electro-Motive Division introduced the 1,500-hp MP15 in 1974 as a replacement for the company's successful SW1500 switcher. The new unit's MP designation indicated it was a multipurpose locomotive. Built on a frame longer than the SW1500's, the MP15 carried more fuel and rode on GP-type road trucks that allowed it to operate at road speeds up to 65 mph.

The first MP15s were built for the Missouri Pacific in February 1974, and 351 units were ultimately produced. The last one was built in January of 1983. This locomotive had a DC electrical system, so its model designation was changed to MP15DC in 1975 when EMD introduced the similar MP15AC with an alternator.

Prototype plans of the MP15DC were published in the Model Railroader Cyclopedic: Vol. 2, Diesel Locomotives. The Atlas model matches these plans.

The versatile MP15DC locomotive is owned by railroads across North America and was also purchased by a number of industrial customers for plant switching.

Details abound. The Atlas MP15s are offered with a wide variety of railroad-specific details. The plastic carbody is assembled from many optional parts that allow Atlas to customize the MP15 for each prototype. A one-piece sill casting includes the basic pilots, side sills, and running boards. The hood, cab base, and cab are separate pieces that snap-lock into the sill casting, and then the unit is finished off with the appropriate detail parts.

The decoration on our sample Southern Ry. locomotive is excellent. Its paint was smooth and the printed lettering was all clear and readable, including the realistic tiny red "Danger 600 volts" labels.

Three printed instruction sheets contain exploded-view isometric drawings that show where the optional user-applied parts belong.

FEATURED PRODUCT REVIEW

Morristown & Erie #2408 photographed by Robert Allard

The isometric drawings provide some insight into what it takes to achieve all the different versions of the MP15. Three different castings provide either a standard tapered hood, one with a square air filter box, and a third with an angled air filter box. These filter boxes sit on top of the hood between the rear stack and the cab.

Other factory applied details include several styles of sandboxes, exhaust stacks (with or without a muffler), snowplows, and a cab interior with a painted crew.

Separate radiator grills on the hood add nice three-dimensional, see-through effects to the model's cooling system. Both pilots are detailed with brake hoses, m.u. cables, uncoupling levers, and optional snowplows.

The power plant. Inside the MP15 you'll find Atlas' standard mechanism on a die-cast metal frame. The can motor rides above the fuel tank, and brass flywheels and plastic universals are pressed on both motor shafts.

Acetal plastic gearboxes drive all of the axles. The nickel-silver wheels have RP-25 contours and match the National Model Railroad Association standards gauge.

The wheelsets have split axles that ride in electrical pickups concealed inside the sideframes, so all the wheels collect current. Both trucks are hard-wired to the printed-circuit (PC) board that holds the electronic components.

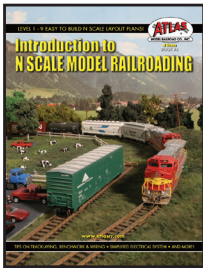

Performance. The Atlas MP15 started moving steadily on 2 volts at only 1.9 scale mph. It operated smoothly and quietly throughout its entire speed range, reaching a maximum that matches the prototype's top speed. It also produced a drawbar pull equivalent to 42 free rolling freight cars on straight and level track.

This late-model, heavy-duty switcher offers a great combination of superb prototype-specific details and smooth performance.
