NEW ATLAS TOOLING

The original design dates back to the early Fifties, when it was offered in single- and double compartment versions. The name lends itself to the "action" created by an air-permeable fabric lining in the bottom of the compartment. Unloading the car involves pumping air under the lining fluidizing the commodity which in turn is drawn out of the compartment by pneumatic or other means. This type of car was primarily used for sugar, flour, and starch (and sometime certain types of plastics).

The subject of Atlas' new models is one of the double compartment cars, the 4180 cubic-foot design. It was introduced in 1962 and through a number of design changes continued in production until 1980 when the taller 4566 cubic-foot design supplanted the 4180. During that time a total over 5,000 were built.

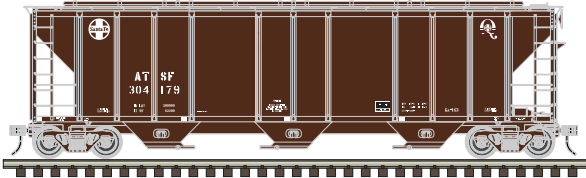

Atlas will be offering the 4180 in three distinct body styles.

- 1965-1966 THIS BODY STYLE IS FEATURED ON THIS RUN.
- 1966-1968 THIS BODY STYLE WILL BE FEATURED ON FUTURE RUNS.
- 1970-1980 THIS BODY STYLE WILL BE FEATURED ON FUTURE RUNS

Some of these cars still exist in service today.

Trailer Train (TTCX)

FEATURES:

- Based on ACF® plans
- Two different styles of hitch
- Container pedestals
- Correct model year jack pads
- Recommended 24" radius
- AccuMate® couplers

The ACF® 89' 4" flat car was introduced in the late 60s as a result of a continuing need for more intermodal platform capacity. The Atlas model is based on the 1973 version that was originally designed to carry two trailers or combinations with containers. The cars have been used by Trailer Train and various railroads in intermodal service since that time. Many of these were modified in the late 80s to accept longer trailers. Most of those remaining in TTX service, today, have been modified with three hitches to accommodate up to three shorter package trailers.
