PRE-ORDER ANNOUNCEMENTS - WINTER 2025

PRE-ORDER DUE DATE: WEDNESDAY MARCH 12TH 2025

January 2025

Dear Model Railroader,

Happy New Year and Welcome to the Atlas Winter 2025 HO & N Scale Catalog. Here at Atlas, we're kicking off 2025 with all new announcements from our Master and Trainman lines. We hope that whether you are a dedicated Atlas follower or a new fan, that you join us as we embark on another year of fantastic model railroading!

The ASMC is the basis of the distinctive Atlas Pre-Order system. Before the Research & Development department gives the final go ahead for production, Atlas announces to its customers the products we are preparing to make. This announcement comes in the form of the ASMC that provides our customers with the opportunity to arrange pre-orders for their preferred products.

The Winter 2025 edition of our catalog includes announcements of prototypical N and HO locomotives including the N Master Berkshire 2-8-4 Steam Locomotive along with N & HO Master C424s and MP15DCs. We're also announcing plenty of prototype accurate rolling stock including N & HO scale 60' Auto Parts Box Cars, 89' ACF Flat Cars, 45' Pines Trailers and more. The ever popular 1993 Ford® Explorer is back for another spin around the block in both scales!

While on the Atlas website, shop.atlasrr.com, be sure to peruse the "New Arrivals" pages to see what has recently arrived on Authorized Dealer shelves, or the In-Stock pages to see what is readily available from Atlas. Need to do some track work? Atlas has all the pieces you need - from straights to switches and everything in between! Atlas can also help outfit you with a full layout package - check out shop.atlasrr.com for more information. We also offer a full line of instructional guides if you're looking to start fresh with a brand new layout! For a complete listing of our books, visit our website or inquire at your local hobby shop. For assistance finding an Atlas Authorized Dealer near you, use our handy Dealer locator at: <https://shop.atlasrr.com/storelocator.aspx>.

Don't miss out on all of the latest Atlas news, announcements, special offers and more. You can ensure that you receive the latest Atlas news delivered to your inbox by visiting shop.atlasrr.com and signing up for our email newsletter – the Atlas Insider.

Thank you for your interest and enthusiasm in the exceptional multi-scale product offerings produced by Atlas Model Railroad Company.

Happy Modeling,

Ross Medine
Acting Sales Manager

In the spring of 1925, the Berkshire Hills on the Boston and Albany railroad resounded with the roar of a new concept in locomotive design – the first “Super-Power” 2-8-4. Dubbed the A-1 by Lima Locomotive Works, the “Berkshire” - as it quickly came to be known - was more than a logical upgrade to the 2-8-2 “Mikado”, as it featured a larger boiler, firebox, feedwater heater and superheater. These features taken together overcame the issues of wheel slip and loss of steam pressure upon acceleration that plagued earlier drag-freight designs based on the Mikado. Indeed, this first Berkshire easily pulled over 2500 tons up the 1.5% grades of the B&A without assistance, resulting in an order for 55 by the B&A alone.

More upgrades were soon to come, however. By the early 1930s, the railroads under the ownership of the Van Swerigen brothers (Nickel Plate, Chesapeake & Ohio and Hocking Valley, Erie, Pere Marquette, Wheeling & Lake Erie) had joined together the engineering talents of their several railroads into an Advisory Mechanical Committee, which produced many of the most successful steam locomotives of the era, including the C&O T-1 (or “Texas” type). The improved Berkshire design resulting from this committee was derived from scaling the primary dimensions of the T-1 down by 70% - except for the drivers, which were increased in size from 63” to 69”. By the end of production of the 2-8-4 Berkshire in 1949, Lima had produced 368 of the 611 locomotives to carry the name. Two remain in operation – NKP 765 (the “Queen of the West”) and PM 1225, the star of the movie “Polar Express”.

Features:

- Accurate paint schemes
- Master series Silver (Sound Ready) and Gold (DCC with sound) versions
- Separately applied details

The ALCO C424 model was one of the first "Century-series" locomotives to be produced. Its 16-cylinder 251B-series prime mover produced 2,400-hp, making it a direct competitor to the 2,500-hp GE U25B and EMD GP35 models. A total of 190 units were built between 1963 and 1966 for customers throughout North America, including 53 for roads in the US, 92 for Canada and 45 for Mexico. Erie Lackawanna, Canadian Pacific and National de Mexico purchased some of the largest fleets in their respective countries.

The Atlas N Scale C424 is an accurate rendition of the Alco design, matching many of the variations as seen during the production of the prototype locomotive.

This first production run showcases the Phase 1 C424. Future releases to include other common variations such as the Phase 2 model.

Features:

- All new tooling with accurately rendered cab and sills.
- Golden-white LEDs
- Painted safety rails
- Directional lighting
- Blackened metal wheels
- Magnetic knuckle couplers
- Atlas Master® Gold version features Soundtraxx Tsunami Decoder
- Silver Sound Ready (equipped with speaker for easy conversion to DCC sound)

The 1500hp MP15DC was designed by EMD as a replacement model for the successful SW1500 switcher. The longer frame of the MP15DC allowed for increased fuel capacity and the use of Blomberg road trucks; increased sand capacity was also offered as an option. The first MP15DCs were built for Missouri Pacific in February 1974 and a total of 351 units were produced through the end of production in January 1983. The MP15DC is a versatile locomotive that is employed by both large and small railroads across North America in road freight and yard switching duties. It was also purchased by several non-railroad corporations for use in plant switching service.

Features:

- Separately-applied roof detail and coupler cut levers
- Painted safety rails
- Dual flywheels
- Directional lighting

The original design dates back to the early Fifties, when it was offered in single- and double compartment versions. The name lends itself to the "action" created by an air-permeable fabric lining in the bottom of the compartment. Unloading the car involves pumping air under the lining fluidizing the commodity which in turn is drawn out of the compartment by pneumatic or other means. This type of car was primarily used for sugar, flour, and starch (and sometime certain types of plastics).

The subject of Atlas new models is one of the double compartment cars, the 4180 cubic-foot design. It was introduced in 1962 and through a number of design changes continued in production until 1980 when the taller 4566 cubic-foot design supplanted the 4180. During that time a little of 5,000 were built.

Features:

- Ready to run
- Injection molded plastic
- Fine scale detail
- Metal wheels
- Etched metal roofwalks
- Crisp painting/printing

The 55-ton Fishbelly Coal Hopper, originally built in the 1930s, represents a critical era in railroading history. With its distinctive fishbelly side design, it was engineered to maximize load capacity while maintaining structural strength. These steam-era hoppers were versatile workhorses, efficiently transporting coal from mines to power plants and industrial centers across the nation.

Even as diesel locomotives began to dominate the railroads, these hoppers remained a dependable fixture, seamlessly bridging the transition between steam and diesel operations. Their rugged construction and reliability ensured they could withstand the demands of heavy freight operations, making them indispensable to coal-hauling railroads well into the mid-20th century. Today, they stand as a testament to the ingenuity and durability of early freight

Features:

- Prototypical painting and lettering
- Die-cast underframe and slope sheets
- Friction-bearing trucks with AccuMate® operating knuckle couplers
- Plastic body with removable coal load
- Flat or peaked ends as per the prototype

Built by American Car & Foundry in the late 1960s and early 1970s, the 60' Auto Parts Box Cars serviced assembly plants and component suppliers across the nation. The cars were equipped with either single or double doors, offering easy access to the freight inside, serving the auto industry well with their versatility. Many of these cars can still be found in service today throughout North America.

Features:

- 70-ton roller-bearing trucks
- Deluxe-style positionable door
- Prototypical painting and lettering
- Die-cast underframe with realistic details and separate end ladders
- AccuMate® operating knuckle couplers
- Roof overspray

The ACF® 89' 4" flat car was introduced in the late 60s as a result of a continuing need for more intermodal platform capacity. The Atlas model is based on the 1973 version that was originally designed to carry two trailers or combinations with containers. The cars have been used by Trailer Train and various railroads in intermodal service since that time. Many of these were modified in the late 80s to accept longer trailers. Most of those remaining in TTX service, today, have been modified with three hitches to accommodate up to three shorter package trailers.

Features:

- Based on ACF Plans
- Two different styles of hitch
- Container pedestals
- Correct model year jack pads
- Recommended 13" radius minimum
- AccuMate couplers

The Ford® Explorer is a mid-size sport utility vehicle sold in North America since 1990, essentially making the SUV, a special-interest vehicle at the time, one of the most popular vehicle types in the market today.

First generation Ford® Explorers (1991-1994) were equipped with a 4.0 L 155 hp V6 engine and 4-speed A4LD automatic transmission or 5-speed M50D manual transmission. 15 hp was added for the 1993 edition for a total of 170 hp. Much like its predecessor, the Bronco II, the Ford® Explorer was derivative of the Ford® Ranger Pickup, but larger. It came in both 2-door and 4-door bodystyles and was available with rear or four-wheel drive. Explorers came in 4 trim levels: base XL, XLT, Sport (only available on the two-door version), and the upscale Eddie Bauer Edition. The Limited edition, added for 1993, was available only in the 4-door style and was even more upscale than the Eddie Bauer version.

Coming in a range of prototypical colors, these vehicles will look right at home parked in front of our garage kits, out on the streets of your layout, or, for layouts based in late 1992 and on.

Features:

- Simulated rotary beacon
- Side view mirrors
- Head and tail light glazing
- Interior detail
- Simulated rubber tires
- Under carriage detail
- Sold in sets of 2

The ALCO C424 model was one of the first "Century-series" locomotives to be produced. Its 16-cylinder 251B-series prime mover produced 2,400-hp, making it a direct competitor to the 2,500-hp GE U25B and EMD GP35 models. A total of 190 units were built between 1963 and 1966 for customers throughout North America, including 53 for roads in the US, 92 for Canada and 45 for Mexico. By late 1964 ALCO had determined that an extra 100-hp did make a difference to some customers, and the 2,500-hp C425 model was the result. Improvements over the C424 included a higher capacity main generator, a simplified electrical control system, increased radiator capacity and an upgraded 251C prime mover. The appearance of the body was nearly identical to the C424, with one major exception being the addition of a bulge above the radiator intake grille at the rear of the long hood. A total of 90 units were produced between late 1964 and 1966, all for US roads. The largest purchases were made by Pennsylvania and Spokane Portland & Seattle.

Features:

- C425 Phase 2 models include cab with either horizontal or vertical headlights per the prototype
- Directional lighting w/ golden-white LEDs
- Five-pole skewed armature motor with dual flywheels for optimum performance at all speeds
- Factory-equipped with AccuMate® knuckle couplers
- Separately-applied wire grab irons, ladders, drop steps and marker lenses
- Two painted crew members

The 1500hp MP15DC was designed by EMD as a replacement model for the successful SW1500 switcher. The longer frame of the MP15DC allowed for increased fuel capacity and the use of Blomberg road trucks; increased sand capacity was also offered as an option. The first MP15DCs were built for Missouri Pacific in February 1974 and a total of 351 units were produced through the end of production in January 1983. The MP15DC is a versatile locomotive that is employed by both large and small railroads across North America in road freight and yard switching duties. It was also purchased by several non-railroad corporations for use in plant switching service.

Features:

- Three different hood styles (angled air filter box, square air filter box, standard hood)
- Exhaust stacks: with or without muffler
- Long hood sand fill: recessed or extended
- Rear sand fill: Three variations of sand boxes behind cab
- Pilot: standard or with snow plow
- Separately-applied scale detail parts include: windshield wipers, metal grab irons, coupler cut levers, multiple-unit hoses, snow plow, and more!
- See through step detail on sill
- Etched metal radiator grilles
- Painted crew members
- Factory-equipped with AccuMate® knuckle couplers
- Five-pole skewed armature motor with dual flywheels for optimum performance at all speeds
- Directional lighting with golden-white LEDs

Wired speaker and enclosure included for easy conversion to sound.

In 2013, Greenbrier Companies introduced their new design of 89' auto rack, the Multi-Max™. The new design allows for changing configurations from a Bi-Level to a Tri-Level (and back) without adding or removing decks. The racks are fully compatible with existing 89' auto racks. To this date, most of the racks have been built on Greenbrier Companies' own specially designed 89' flat cars. These cars are commonly seen in cuts of other similar autorack cars or a solid unit train of autorack cars. Currently, almost 10,000 cars (with racks) are running on North American rails. Atlas' rendition of the Multi-Max™ will feature multiple variations and road names.

Features:

- Designed in the USA
- Four body style variations to match different prototype configurations
- Highly detailed side screens to maximize prototypical appearance in scale
- Metal couplers
- Accurate painting and lettering

Between 1929 and 1930, various builders such as Canadian Car & Foundry, Eastern Car Company, and National Steel Car Corporation built 7,500 50-ton steel Minibox boxcars for the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Minibox was somewhat of a transition between the later version of the ARA 1923 and ARA 1932 design boxcar. Lasting in revenue freight service until 1983, these unique boxcars were mostly scrapped, however a few were sold to Pacific Great Eastern, and later used as BC Rail Maintenance of Way cars. The remaining cars that were not sold were used for various non-revenue maintenance tasks, like icicle breaking, tool cars, and storage until 1993.

Features:

- Ice Breakers (Where appropriate)
- Lumber Door End (Where appropriate)
- Youngstown style Door
- Separately Applied ladders and brake details

Built by American Car & Foundry in the late 1960s and early 1970s, the 60' Auto Parts Box Cars serviced assembly plants and component suppliers across the nation. The cars were equipped with either single or double doors, offering easy access to the freight inside, serving the auto industry well with their versatility. Many of these cars can still be found in service today throughout North America.

Features:

- 70-ton roller-bearing trucks with blackened metal wheels and adjustable screws
- Authentically painted and lettered detailed body with sliding doors and distinctive "Precision Design" recessed panels
- Prototypically designed roof and ends with full rivet detail
- Detailed die-cast metal underframe for improved operation
- Separate brake system and air reservoir
- Cushion underframe with extended coupler pockets
- AccuMate® operating knuckle couplers with mounting screws
- Roof overspray

AccuMate® couplers are made under license from AccuRail, Inc.

The ACF® 89' 4" flat car was introduced in the late 60s as a result of a continuing need for more intermodal platform capacity. The Atlas model is based on the 1973 version that was originally designed to carry two trailers or combinations with containers. The cars have been used by Trailer Train and various railroads in intermodal service since that time. Many of these were modified in the late 80s to accept longer trailers. Most of those remaining in TTX service, today, have been modified with three hitches to accommodate up to three shorter package trailers.

Features:

- Based on ACF® plans
- Two different styles of hitch
- Container pedestals
- Correct model year jack pads.
- Recommended 24" radius
- AccuMate® couplers
- AccuMate® couplers are made under license from AccuRail, Inc

The Ford® Explorer is a mid-size sport utility vehicle sold in North America since 1990, essentially making the SUV, a special-interest vehicle at the time, one of the most popular vehicle types in the market today.

First generation Ford® Explorers (1991-1994) were equipped with a 4.0 L 155 hp V6 engine and 4-speed A4LD automatic transmission or 5-speed M50D manual transmission. 15 hp was added for the 1993 edition for a total of 170 hp. Much like its predecessor, the Bronco II, the Ford® Explorer was derivative of the Ford® Ranger Pickup, but larger. It came in both 2-door and 4-door bodystyles and was available with rear or four-wheel drive. Explorers came in 4 trim levels: base XL, XLT, Sport (only available on the two-door version), and the upscale Eddie Bauer Edition. The Limited edition, added for 1993, was available only in the 4-door style and was even more upscale than the Eddie Bauer version.

Coming in a range of prototypical colors, these vehicles will look right at home parked in front of our garage kits, out on the streets of your layout, or, for layouts based in late 1992 and on.

Features:

- Simulated rotary beacon
- Side view mirrors
- Head and tail light glazing
- Interior detail
- Simulated rubber tires
- Under carriage detail
