TRAIN SETS
NOW AVAILABLE!

Welcome to our second 2003 edition. The past six months has been spent actively improving and increasing the range of Graham Farish (GF) products.

One of the most frequently requested items is now back in production, with the welcome return of nine different boxed train sets. The sets are supplied in a new style box, with different locomotive liveries to the individually available models, and also includes our new N gauge track (UK compatible geometry).

The successful range of diesels continues to grow based on our acclaimed new five pole, twin balanced flywheel chassis. The recently released Class 37 in five liveries bears testament to this, having been widely praised by all who have seen and used the models. The diesel range continues to grow and early 2004 will see the return of the Class 25 and 33 models with more to follow.

Steam models have not been forgotten and included in this addition are the welcome return of four favourites, the King, Jinty, 4MT and the Rebuilt Merchant Navy locomotives. All of these have benefited with work on the five pole motor and chassis mechanism. It can be said they now look outstanding with the superior finish applied and used on all GF models.

Modern image modellers will welcome the return of the VBA and OAA wagons, with the exciting news that an HAA merry go round hopper is to follow as a brand new item of tooling.

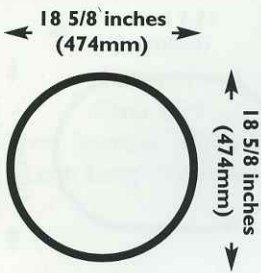

The continuous product re-appraisal is reflected in the attention to models already existing in the GF range. When reviewing product proposals, we firmly believe in taking heed of your suggestions, so that we can deliver the right prototype selections and quality you have come to expect. This approach is reflected in the forth-coming V2 model, which now has, a flywheel and new can motor plus combined current collection on both driving and tender chassis unit.

To conclude the last eighteen months has witnessed the re-establishment of the GF range and Bachmann now looks forward to releasing new and exciting models for 2004.
