ON THE COVER

The wayfreight whistles into the night after spotting hoppers for loading at one of the new trackside sand mines popping up along the line. Fracturing or “frac sand” is fast becoming big business for modern railroads, as carload after carload helps open new western oil and gas fields. The new Glacial Industrial Sands makes it easy to add sand traffic to contemporary HO operations. Turn to page 11 now for complete details on this all-new Cornerstone kit!

October is Fire Prevention Month

Protect your HO population and add action to your layout by installing a fire department. In Minnesota's Missabe range and forest fires set off by lightning, careless people or even train engine sparks can quickly spread across dry landscape towards towns and cities. So it's essential to have a well-equipped and trained fire department at the ready.

In this scene, a string of empty ore cars rolls back up to the mines past the fire department as they welcome visitors on Fire Safety Day. The surrounding streets are blocked off to make room to display all the new fire equipment. The three Cornerstone structures can be placed together as one complex or you can locate the drill tower and repair shop in a separate area of your layout. Fire trucks will be at the ready with SceneMaster emergency vehicles decorated in typical paint schemes. WaltherMainline Minnesota ore car six-packs come completely assembled and are available in a variety of roadnames.

A Note on Availability

At Walthers, we strive to provide you with the widest variety of product possible. In order to achieve this goal, we maintain significant inventory on site. Despite our best efforts to have every item you could possibly need in house at all times, it is not realistically possible to do so. For your convenience, we do our best to promote items that are in stock and to clearly label other items—those that are new and available for Advance Reservations or items that are low in stock and have Limited Quantities Available when the Flyer goes to press. At times, we experience a quick sell out on a particular item or unexpected demand for an item that we believed to have sufficient stock in house. In many cases, items can be back ordered for future delivery. In other cases, we are unable to secure more of a particular item. For the most up to date availability information, we encourage you to check walthers.com, email us at custserv@walthers.com or call our Customer Service Team at 1-800-4-TRAINS. The 'Find It' feature on our website will help you find a Dealer in your area that may still have stock available for the item you desire. Please know that we appreciate your support of both Walthers and your Local Hobby Shop. We are committed to making this Flyer a valuable part of your model railroading.

PROTO FASTFACTS™

EMD celebrated New Years Day 1966 by introducing six new SD series locos including the SD45, with an enormous 20-cylinder power plant cranking out 3600 horsepower. Timing couldn't have been better as American railroads experienced a surge in traffic and were ready to modernize. The SD45 proved popular, and 1,260 were built through late 1971, when it was replaced by the SD45-2. Retirements began in the 1980s, but many were rebuilt and sold to regional railroads. Several are now preserved.

America's Great Dome Luxury Train

Introducing The New & Improved

EMPIRE BUILDER

Named for James J. Hill, known as the “empire builder” for his consolidation of several smaller lines into the Great Northern, the train that would become GN’s flagship debuted on June 11, 1929. Providing fast, luxury service between Chicago and Seattle, riders were treated to a breathtaking look at both the Cascade and Rocky Mountain ranges, which with influence from GN, led to the development of Glacier National Park. Streamlined in 1947 and finished in a stunning orange and dark green scheme, the train was re-equipped in 1951 and expanded in 1955 with the arrival of Great Domes in the form of both 46-seat vista dome coaches and full dome lounge cars. In 1967, the railroad began updating its image with a bold, new color scheme of Big Sky Blue and white on all types of equipment, which remained in use through the Burlington Northern merger of 1970. With some route changes, the Empire Builder remains in operation under Amtrak.

Pride of the Great Northern, the Empire Builder is back in an upgraded Walther'sProto edition that includes both the original Empire Builder Scheme and the later Simplified Scheme F7s!

When EMD was given the green light to build new passenger diesels in early 1945, it unveiled an improved version of the successful E6, designated the E7. A pair of 567A prime movers now supplied power, rated at 2000 total horsepower. Most of the notable changes were seen on the body and included a new and much smaller bulldog nose, as well as a large, vertical louver or screen panels directly behind the cab doors. With big plans for postwar passenger service upgrades, orders for the new model began pouring in from railroads across the country. Among these was the Pere Marquette, which took delivery of two E7s for its new Pere Marquette streamliner in the summer of 1946. Based on their success, ten more were ordered during 1947-48, after the C&O took over operations.

Trendsetters

As ridership declined, Santa Fe re-equipped the El Capitan with Budd Hi-Levels in 1956. The all-stainless steel cars offered more comfort for passengers and greater seating capacity for increased economy. Large windows provided great views for passengers on the upper level while the lower level was reserved for restrooms, baggage and air conditioning equipment.

The cars remained popular into the Amtrak era running on former ATSF routes. When Amtrak finally received funding for new cars, their Superliners were based on Santa Fe's hi-level design. Similar cars called California Cars and Surfliners are operated in conjunction with the California DOT (Caltrans).

BUILD A ONE-STOP RURAL OR SMALL TOWN BUSINESS CENTER

Coal in winter, ice in summer, grain in autumn, lumber in spring – product demand varies with the season. To keep money flowing year round, many business owners ran a variety of operations. For convenience, all the different businesses were often located together forming a small business center alongside the tracks. Freight traffic stayed busy all year long with operations switching by season to different loading docks on the same set of tracks. Small centers like these were common in the 1920s through the 1950s. It's easy to create your own one-stop business center with these Cornerstone kits.

MAKING RAILROAD HISTORY
WALTHERSPROTO®

Little “Red” Caboose

For over 100 years no freight train was complete without a caboose bringing up the rear. To crews they were known as way cars, vans, cabins, buggies, hacks, crummies and dozens of other colorful nicknames. On the road, they served as office, hotel, restaurant and observation post for the conductor and flagman. Tradition was to paint the caboose bright red but some were painted in corporate or other colors.

Caboose were required in the U.S. until the 1980s when new technology including automatic brake systems and remote radio devices to monitor the ends of freight trains took over. Today, cabooses are rarely seen, although a few are still in use on small railroads or locals.

This WalthersProto model is based on wood-bodied cars of the 1920s fitted with stronger, safer steel underframes. The fully assembled car features authentic details including a complete interior. It comes equipped with factory-installed grab irons, roof walks and other details, correct leaf spring arch-bar trucks and Proto MAX™ metal knuckle couplers.
