ON THE COVER

One busy day ends and another begins in Southern Pacific's terminal at San Jose. Commute equipment gets a thorough cleaning well ahead of the morning rush. One track over, the night hostler spots an SD7 for the Permanente Local, which will thread its way up the Santa Clara valley later today. Bringing the same kind of action to your own layout is easy with WalthersProto models like the new SP SD7s and Bi-Level Commuter Coaches. Check out the newest locos on page 17 in this issue!

SAVE A TREE – GO PAPERLESS!

Are flyers and catalogs filling up your mailbox? Walthers Flyer is available online at walthers.com for convenient browsing or downloading. Ordering is quick and easy with the online Flyer. If you would like to go paperless and be removed from the Walthers Flyer mailing list, contact customer service at 1-800-487-2467 or email your customer number, name and address to custserv@walthers.com.

WELCOME

Sure'n you'll think you've caught a leprechaun as you discover the latest new products and super prices for savin' some green, all in this issue of Walthers Flyer!

Put your stamp of approval on our newest Cornerstone kit, the Post Office. This versatile kit features parts to build three different rear entryways and much more. Turn to page 4 for a first look at our newest HO structure kit.

With newly tooled details, our upgraded WalthersProto 65' Thrall Mill Gondolas are a great way to keep heavy loads moving on HO railroads. Read more on page 5 inside.

Back by popular demand, expand your WalthersProto "El Capitan" or post-1964 "San Francisco Chief" with these authentic 72-Seat Hi-Level Coaches! See page 5 inside for details on the Standard and new LED-lighted HO models.

Find out more about these new models at walthers.com, by calling us at 1-800-487-2467, or visit your participating hobby shop to reserve any new product in this issue.

Happy Modeling!

AMTRAK'S WORKHORSES

When Amtrak took over America's passenger trains in 1971, it also took over a ragtag fleet of mismatched passenger cars. Based on the popular Metroliner tubular shell with airliner-style interiors, the first all-new Budd Amfleet I cars hit the rails in 1975. Almost 500 cars still weren't enough, so 150 Amfleet II cars (with slightly larger windows and leg rest seats) were ordered in 1981 with most targeted for eastern long-distance trains.

Today, Amfleet cars are still the backbone of the single-level fleet. Over the years they've operated from coast to coast on short corridor runs and long-distance trains wherever bi-level Superliners can't run.

Since its startup, Amtrak has had several different color schemes and Amfleet cars have worn almost all of them. As Amtrak came of age in the 1980s and 1990s with increasing ridership and modern equipment, the cars that brought the railroad into the modern era could be seen dressed in the Phase III scheme shown here - the colors that many identify with America's railroad.

A Note on Availability

At Walthers, we strive to provide you with the widest variety of product possible. In order to achieve this goal, we maintain significant inventory on site. Despite our best efforts to have every item you could possibly need in house at all times, it is not realistically possible to do so. For your convenience, we do our best to promote items that are in stock and to clearly label other items—those that are new and available for Advance Reservations or items that are low in stock and have Limited Quantities Available when the Flyer goes to press. At times, we experience a quick sell out on a particular item or unexpected demand for an item that we believed to have sufficient stock in house. In many cases, items can be back ordered for future delivery. In other cases, we are unable to secure more of a particular item. For the most up to date availability information, we encourage you to check walthers.com, email us at custserv@walthers.com or call our Customer Service Team at 1-800-4-TRAINS. The 'Find It' feature on our website will help you find a Dealer in your area that may still have stock available for the item you desire. Please know that we appreciate your support of both Walthers and your Local Hobby Shop. We are committed to making this Flyer a valuable part of your model railroading.

WALTHERSPROTO FASTFACTS™

Designed for branch lines, EMD's "Special Duty" series debuted in 1952 with the SD7, featuring the new three-axle Flexi-Coil truck with its powered center axle. EMD's new truck not only spread the weight, but the extra traction motors provided more starting power. Responding to demand for a more powerful version, EMD replaced the SD7 with the SD9 in 1954, equipped with the new 567C prime mover that delivered 1,750 horsepower. Except for placement of the class lights, the SD9 looked almost the same as the SD7. By the time production ended in 1959, 515 SD9s were in service on over a dozen railroads. Some are still going strong after 50+ years of service!

WALTHERSPROTO FASTFACTS™

Introduced in 1961, the GP30 was possibly the most distinctive diesel ever built in large numbers. Although longer and wider than previous EMD designs, a slight bulge was needed in the long hood just behind the cab to accommodate air handling and electrical equipment. Influenced by GM's auto styling staff, the bulge was covered with a rounded metal fairing that extended back to the middle of the long hood and to the front edge of the cab roof. The appearance of the new locos could also be changed by customer specifications and some opted to use refurbished parts from retired engines. Although replaced by the new 35 Line in 1963, GP30s led long, productive lives in mainline service, and a few remain in revenue service on shortlines today.

WALTHERSPROTO FASTFACTS™

Primary Assignment: Local and long-distance passenger service on Amtrak routes.

In Service: 1975 - Present

Amtrak took delivery of its first all-new Amfleet I cars in 1975 for inter-city service in the eastern US. Based on the Budd-built Metroliner, nearly 500 coach and food service cars were delivered by 1978. Starting in 1981, new Amfleet II coaches and lounges were introduced especially for long-distance trains. Both types are still in service.

- All-New Tooling
- Highly Detailed All-New Trucks
- Factory-Installed LED Lighting Available
- Detailed Underbody
- Real Metal Finish Simulates Stainless Steel
- Factory-Installed Grab Irons
- Paint Color-Matched to Amtrak Standards
- Window Gasket Details
- Prototypical "Smoked Glass" Windows
- Car Number Decals
- Correct Turned Metal 36" Wheelsets
- Proto MAX™ Metal Knuckle Couplers

Did You Know?

The 1950s were exciting for many folks moving into new Cape Cod or Ranch-style homes.

New subdivisions mushroomed as builders streamlined the work with standard plans and components. By changing windows and doors, and slightly altering the floor plan, some variety could be introduced.

Today, you can still find blocks of both styles in big cities and suburban towns, updated with new siding, modern heating and air conditioning and similar details.

Did You Know?

With the right mix of trees and ground cover, it's easy to model fall trees that have passed their peak colors.

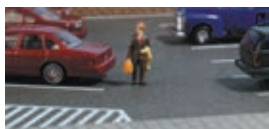

Start with green deciduous trees in various shades, and add ground cover in darker yellow, orange, red or brown. Mix some white glue and water 50/50 and brush on the tips of the branches/leaves before adding the final colors. Be sure to sprinkle some on the ground below to model fallen leaves too.

Late in the season, some trees will have lost all of their leaves. This can be modeled by mixing in some barren trees (sometimes called winter trees by some manufacturers) among the others with most of their leaves.

Evergreens such as pines and spruces should also be part of the mix — be sure to use trees without snow for the late fall season.

MAKING RAILROAD HISTORY
WALTHERS MAINLINE®

EMD's Long Lived SW1

From 1939 to the present, the EMD SW1 has been one of the most dependable diesels ever. Over 600 units were sold to a variety of railroads and industries. In widespread service through the mid 1980s, many are still operating today.

With its new drive, the WalthersMainline® model is perfect for yard work, as well as branches, shortlines and industrial roads.

Features include a 5-pole skew wound armature motor, 14:1 helical gears and dual machined brass flywheels. These limited edition locos come equipped with a factory-installed 8-pin DCC socket, heavy die cast chassis, directional lighting, correct 40" turned-metal wheelsets and Proto MAX™ metal knuckle couplers.
