ON THE COVER

Home away from home, hotel, restaurant, office and more, no other car defined railroading quite like the caboose. Many railroads began upgrading their fleets in the 1950s with safer bay window designs built by International Car Company. Serving for 30 years and beyond, our latest WalthersProto models are the perfect finish for your H0 freight trains too. Check out the latest run on page 9 inside.

WELCOME

April showers are a perfect time to work on your railroad, and you'll find plenty of exciting new products, terrific deals and more for rainy day projects in this issue of Walthers Flyer.

Celebrate Arbor Day and Earth Day along your line with great deals on all sorts of scenery supplies in our Landscape Sale. Check out the great selection and special prices starting over on page 12 in this issue.

Turn empty space into H0 subdivisions with the all-new Brick Cape Cod and Framed Ranch Tract House. Built by the thousands after WWII and just as popular today, these classic American homes are packed with features. Read more about our latest real estate listings on page 4 for the first time.

Add new variety to your molten sulfur trains with five new roadnames for the 40' Trinity Molten Sulfur Tank Cars in H0. Available while supplies last, check out all the details and features on these new WalthersProto releases on page 5 inside.

Put a little life in your H0 layout with four new figure sets. There are two new sets to fill empty dome car seats, and two sets of workers in contemporary safety gear for modern industry. Meet the newest members of the Walthers SceneMaster figure collection on page 5.

Find out more about these new models at walthers.com, by calling us at 1-800-487-2467, or visit your participating hobby shop to reserve any new product in this issue.

Happy Modeling!

Downtown Railroading

As railroads were built their depots in many cities were constructed in or near downtown. Businesses and industries grew up along the urban mainlines and classification yards were added to keep up with growth. As industrial growth moved away from the center city the yards were frequently downsized to a handful of sidings to serve the remaining industries. By the 1980s these yards, although smaller, still served a vital role as staging/turning areas for switch runs.

In this early-1980s scene, a Milwaukee Road EMD GP30 works a local freight at the site of the old freight yard. The engine is running around its train for the trip back to the main yard just outside of town. By the looks of the cars in the consist the remaining industries are a feed mill and a company that receives bulk liquids like corn syrup for a candy maker or commercial bakery.

A Note on Availability

At Walthers, we strive to provide you with the widest variety of product possible. In order to achieve this goal, we maintain significant inventory on site. Despite our best efforts to have every item you could possibly need in house at all times, it is not realistically possible to do so. For your convenience, we do our best to promote items that are in stock and to clearly label other items—those that are new and available for Advance Reservations or items that are low in stock and have Limited Quantities Available when the Flyer goes to press. At times, we experience a quick sell out on a particular item or unexpected demand for an item that we believed to have sufficient stock in house. In many cases, items can be back ordered for future delivery. In other cases, we are unable to secure more of a particular item. For the most up to date availability information, we encourage you to check walthers.com, email us at custserv@walthers.com or call our Customer Service Team at 1-800-4-TRAINS. The 'Find It' feature on our website will help you find a Dealer in your area that may still have stock available for the item you desire. Please know that we appreciate your support of both Walthers and your Local Hobby Shop. We are committed to making this Flyer a valuable part of your model railroading.

Landscape Your Layout

Celebrate Earth Day this month on your layout. Landscape your scenes with a variety of ground cover, plants, trees and more. Whether it's a few weeds along the track or a whole forest of evergreens, it's easy to create realistic scenery on your railroad. Start with the products shown here and find more at walthers.com.

WALTHERSPROTO FASTFACTS™

By the 1950s, railroads were shopping for more powerful units and a horsepower race between EMD, ALCO and General Electric began. GE unveiled its new Universal series with a 2500-horsepower, four-axle unit, known as the U25B in 1960. In 1966, a 2800-horsepower prime mover was added to create the U28B. Only 148 units were built that year. Late production units (which are the prototypes for these models) had a shorter nose and some differences in the radiator intakes, which were carried over into early U30B production. Late in 1966, GE introduced a 3000-horsepower prime mover in the U30B. Many features were carried over into the new body, but later production units had revised air intakes. Total production ended at 296 units in 1975.

Did You Know?

Items marked as All Scales can be used with virtually any model railroad.

Many scenery items fall into this category, as a large, mature tree in N Scale is about the right size for a younger one just in G!

Many electrical items, such as structure lighting kits, bulbs and wire to name just a few, are also easy to use in more than one scale.

On occasion, you'll also see items marked V for Variable. Many of these are toy products, which are sized to fit a particular size of packaging.

Workhorse Sleepers

Expand your passenger fleet with these widely used sleepers. The Pullman-Standard 10-6 sleeper ran on some of the most colorful trains in the country. Offering 10 roomettes and six bedrooms, the cars were popular with passengers and became Amtrak's standard offering for sleeping accommodations.

Now available in standard and lighted versions, cars feature prototypically accurate details including window tinting, factory-installed grab irons and correct turned-metal 36" wheelsets. A real metal finish simulates stainless steel as appropriate per roadname. All seven schemes shown here are true to prototype.
